What We Offer...

Storytelling is often envisaged as a still activity where literature and books are present. Our storytelling is a little bit different. We love encouraging children of all ages and abilities to physically move through stories, use their bodies and surroundings, act out characters, make lots of noise and let their imaginations run wild.

The aim of each storytelling session is to fully engage every child in a creative journey so that they are captivated by the content. We use many expressive arts based techniques to enhance our storytelling, including role play, music, puppetry, props and parachute work to name just a few .

Our professionally trained storytellers/performers deliver all stories and sessions from memory, giving them the flexibility and freedom to run with the children's creative suggestions.

Who We Are...

Alys

Sarah / Louby Lou

Emma

Our three storytellers all have degrees in drama and theatre arts performance, alongside professional acting credits for stage, film and television. Each have extensive experience in working with children in the educational sector and have been trained to deliver our storytelling sessions to a very high standard. All of our staff possess up to date DBS certificates.

Skills We Explore...

Our storytelling sessions are praised for being creative, imaginative and captivating, but we are also praised on the wide collection of skills that children explore during one visit.

- Literacy
- Oracy
- Communication
- Creativity
- Imaginative
- Collaborative
- Confidence
- Numeracy
- Fine/Gross Motor Skills
- Wellbeing

Our aim is to provide sessions that are cross curricular and enhance children to become ambitious, capable learners who are ready for the big wide world ahead. Most importantly, the biggest outcome of all of our sessions is enjoyment! We love seeing children giggle their way through the stories and hear about their re-enactments to parents at home.

Story Catalogue

Here is a list of all our current storytelling sessions we offer for your age group. We also create bespoke stories for settings, so do not worry if there is something you would like that does not appear in the catalogue. How many children can you work with?

We do ask that teachers keep a maximum of 30 children per session. We feel that content quality is really important and restricting numbers to a class size allows children to have the best possible experience with us.

What space do you need?

Ideally, the bigger the space the better, but all we need on the day is a clear space big enough to comfortably make a circle with all the children. We also need a power socket located nearby.

Do teachers need to be present throughout?

Yes please! We love to see you getting involved in the session too and we may often need your help when the parachute is involved.

I would like a specific theme. Are you able to create a session?

Absolutely. We are very creative here at Louby Lou's and regularly provide bespoke stories for schools.

Testimonials...

'The children and staff thoroughly enjoyed themselves this morning. Alys was brilliant! She really got the children motivated and fully involved in the story. We can't wait to book again!' - Vicky Mills, Rougemont School.

'We can highly recommend Louby Lou's Storytelling. The sessions are amazing, fun and all the children enjoy Emma coming. The company has helped the children to become more engaged and confident. We find it a magical way to bring stories to life and a great starting point to introduce new topics' - Alison Janik, Usk Nursery.

'From the start of our storytelling project until the very end, Sarah has been such an inspiration to the children and staff alike at Tylorstown Primary School. Sarah's storytelling techniques have clearly worked their magic on our children!' - Huw Barrett, Tylorstown Primary.
